State says local Adult Ed among most outstanding

The state Department of Educational and Cultural Services review team, which reviewed the SAD #4 Adult and Community Education program in March, has concluded that the local program is "one of the most outstanding adult education programs in Maine." Their report was released last week.

The aspects of the program that particularly impressed the state review team were: the fact that the administrative team of SAD #4 considers adult education an integral component of the total education system, the fact that the adult ed program is always willing to try new programs and new technology, and the fact that the program is designed with the students as its major focus. The review team commended the program's new focus on career planning, with the individual counseling offered by Merrill Blitner and the introduction of the CHOICES program—a computerized guidance information system for adults.

Many area road and bridge projects on DOT's '88-'89 list

Local towns will all find something to cheer about in the Department of Transportation's 1988-89 Transportation Investment Program. The $222 million spending package was presented to the Legislature last week. It includes nearly $3 million worth of work in the Bethel area.

The program calls for $67 million in state funding for highways and bridges, and $5 million in funding for airports and marine terminals. This will be matched by $141 million from the federal government and $48 million from local governments.

"While it will not do everything we would like it to do in addressing Maine's highway and bridge needs," said MDOT Commissioner Dana Connors, "this program does a respectable job in the face of a significant decline in the federal fund-

Planning Board re-votes on Inn, but DEP says 'no'

As expected (see last week's Citizen), the Bethel Planning Board last Wednesday night reconsidered its earlier denial of a permit for the Bethel Inn's proposed 40 townhouse condominiums. By a 4-2 vote, the Planning Board approved a permit for the proposed subdivision. The vote a month earlier had been 3-3, with the tie vote going against the proposal. The difference in the number of people

Changing horses in mid-stream

Changing horses in mid-stream is a good way to get a dunking. And that is exactly what would happen if voters agree that Maine Yankee should be shut down next year.

The plant, which belongs to Central Maine Power (and others), is licensed to operate until the year 2008, and CMP's medium-term operational plan is to have Maine Yankee's 850 megawatts of power available up to that year, if not beyond. The plant produced 26 percent of CMP's power last year. To ask the company to suddenly find comparable supplies of power for one-quarter of demand is to expect the impossible. One cannot jump from nuclear to non-nuclear by the stroke of a pen without incurring some upsetting consequences.

The most upsetting would be a sharp, and sudden, increase in the cost of electricity to the consumer. Maine Yankee produces electricity at 2½ cents per kilowatt hour. This is not the cheapest power in CMP's grid: Wyman and Harris hydro plants produce power at about 1 cent per kilowatt hour, mainly because these plants were built years ago at relatively modest cost. Maine Yankee's 2½ cents per kilowatt hour compares favorably with the cost of oil-fired or coal-fired plants, which run at between 5 and 12 cents per kilowatt hour, depending in large measure upon the cost of fuel. It should be noted that Maine Yankee's operational cost includes the cost of setting aside millions of dollars for the plant's decommissioning after its useful life is over. (Decommissioning is necessary because the plant becomes radioactively "hot" during its operational lifetime and must be given time to "cool down.")

The referendum that will go before voters in the fall—if the Legislature leaves its hands off it—will ask whether or not any power plant, such as Maine Yankee, that produces nuclear waste should be allowed to operate in the State of Maine past July 1988.

The question does not ask—as some legislators allege—that Maine Yankee be shut down. It asks only that it be shut down if it produces nuclear waste. It could conceivably, according to backers of the referendum issue, be converted to a different fuel and continue operating.

A spokesman for CMP concedes that it could, indeed, be converted to a different fuel. The easiest conversion would be to use coal as the fuel. This would raise the cost of production to between 10 cents and 12 cents per kilowatt hour, according to spokesman John Arnold. Using natural gas as the fuel would make for an economical plant, but there is no ready supply of natural gas in Maine, he said.

Mr. Arnold also said CMP has no intention of building any other nuclear plants. He said the strategy for producing power in the 21st century envisions relying more and more on cogeneration plants—that is wood-fired plants, such as the one being developed at P.H. Chadbourne, in Bethel.

While wood-fired plants present certain environmental problems, they do not present the problem of what to do with the waste from the fuel. As Mainers well know, the state narrowly, last year, escaped being considered as a possible site for a nuclear waste repository for wastes from all over the eastern half of the country. There is no known and safe way of getting rid of these lethal wastes and it is foolish to have nuclear plants that produce wastes before scientists develop a method of dealing with the wastes.

However, the fact that Maine Yankee produces nuclear waste does not make Maine any more likely or any less likely to become the site of a nuclear waste dump. At least two of the states under consideration as possible waste sites do not have nuclear power plants.

Years ago Maine citizens agreed to have a nuclear plant in the state. That was probably a bad decision, but it was a decision that was made and that now must be lived with. With CMP now relying on Maine Yankee for one-quarter of customer demand, it would be a rash decision to tell the utility to go find power elsewhere by next year. Certainly the plant should be shut down at the end of its license period. But certainly CMP should be allowed to plan carefully—not haphazardly—for power supplies for the 21st century. bfw

Adult Ed, C of C to conduct survey of training needs

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Program is the recipient of a grant from the Maine Department of Educational and Cultural Services for a survey of the economic outlook and training needs of businesses in west-central Oxford County.

The survey and needs assessment will be done in cooperation with the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce during June and July. Cathy Newell, director of Adult and Community Education, and Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the chamber of commerce, will coordinate the survey of 200 employers, ranging from SAD #44's largest employers to home-based businesses with a single employee.

Both the chamber and the local adult ed program had been advised to conduct such a survey. The State Development Office advised the chamber that it was necessary to have a detailed assessment of business activity before undertaking economic development projects, and the Department of Educational and Cultural Services, during its recent program review, recommended that SAD #44 Adult and Community Education do a thorough assessment of training needs of employers.

Data collected from the survey will be entered into the adult education office computer and summarized in a report. An Ad-Hoc Committee on Training Needs will operate as a subcommittee of the Adult Education Advisory Council to plan programming in response to needs identified in the survey. Funding will be received for printing and mailing of the survey, and for the services of a person to undertake necessary follow-up and data entry.

To the Editor:

Judging by the content of recent letters to the editor, it would appear that not everyone is aware of the criteria, established in law, which must be considered by the Planning Board before granting approval to a subdivision proposal.

May I suggest that as a service to your readers, very few of whom are likely to have ready access to the codified laws of the State of Maine, you might print the following excerpts from Title 30 M.R.S.A. Section 4566:

"Guidelines. When promulgating any subdivision regulations and when reviewing any subdivision for approval, the planning board, agency or office, or the municipal officers, shall consider the following criteria and before granting approval shall determine that the proposed subdivision:

- Will not result in undue water or air pollution;
- Has sufficient water available for the reasonably foreseeable needs of the subdivision;
- Will not cause an unreasonable burden on an existing water supply, if one is to be utilized;
- Will not cause unreasonable soil erosion or reduction in the capacity of the land to hold water so that a dangerous or unhealthy condition may result;
- Will not cause unreasonable highway or public road congestion or unsafe conditions with respect to use of the highways or public roads existing or proposed;
- Will provide for adequate sewage waste disposal;
- Will not cause an unreasonable burden on the ability of a municipality to dispose of solid waste and sewage if municipal services are to be utilized;
- Is not likely to have an undue adverse effect on the scenic or natural beauty of the area, aesthetic, historic sites or rare and irreplaceable natural areas;
- Is in conformance with a duly adopted subdivision regulation or ordinance, comprehensive plan, development plan, or land use plan, if any; and
- The subdivider has adequate financial and technical capacity to meet the above-stated standards.

L. Whenever situated, in whole or in part, within 200 feet of any pond, lake, river or tidal waters, will not adversely affect the quality of that body of water or unreasonably affect the shoreline of that body of water.

M. Will not, alone or in conjunction with existing activities, adversely affect the quality or quantity of ground water."

JAYNE KENNEDY was the guest speaker at the annual Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce banquet, held last Friday at The Bethel Inn. Ms. Kennedy, best known as the former co-host of the CBS program "The NFL Today," divides her time between Hollywood and West Summer. She is married to Bill Overton, the developer of the Lake Christopher Condominiums. They are members of the chamber.

Lindley Wieden was the recipient of the Chamber of Commerce's Senior Citizen Award, given for his efforts in promoting activities for local senior citizens.

Leon Favreau, owner of Bethel Furniture Stock, was awarded the Business Award for his efforts in publicizing the plight of the White Mountain National Forest, which is being threatened with legal action by conservationists for trying to accommodate both the wood-based industries and the recreationists.

The Board of Directors met last Thursday morning at the Casco Bank.

The membership committee is open to any suggestions on new prospects for membership. If you know anyone who is interested in joining the chamber, call the office, at 824-2282, and leave a message for Barbara Brown and her committee.

Based on the health insurance questionnaires that were returned, the chamber should qualify for some kind of Blue Cross/Blue Shield plan. But the rate is still up in the air. If you have not returned your questionnaire, please do so; if you need one, please call the office.

The chamber's new brochure is finished and is available at the office. It was prepared by Citrus Press, in Bethel, and printed by Twin City Printery, in Lewiston.

The new board of directors, elected at the annual banquet, Friday night, is composed of: Bill Riley (president), John MacMunn (vice-president), Barbara Brown (treasurer), MaryBeth Bayerlein (secretary), Shirley Powell, Bill Barter, Ernestine Riley, Roxanne Carson, Amy Farrar, Leon Favreau, Paula Berry, Joan Scaro, Ed Hitchcock, Bernice Wideman, Cecelia Hoy, Cathy Newell, Irene Mills and Frank Ward.

It's already time to start making plans to attend the "Big E" in Springfield, Mass. We will again try to combine our efforts with other western mountain chambers.

Cathy Newell will be doing an economic outlook and training needs survey. Her first meeting will be May 19 with members of the board who volunteered to be on this committee.

Wende Gray is on the Governor's Commission on Outdoor Recreation and she discussed the acquisition of land bill for conservation, outdoor recreation and wildlife acreage. The bill in the Legislature proposes spending $50 million for land acquisition for the above purposes, at the rate of $10 million per year for five years. The chamber voted to support the bill and will lobby for it.

The Bethel Rotary Club is sponsoring 20 exchange students from Spain this July and asked the chamber to host a luncheon for the youngsters on the 23rd. The Bethel Board of Selectmen has placed on the town meeting warrant the chamber's request for $750 from the town in order to help fund the group's promotional and public relations activities on behalf of the town. In ensuring that the article receives favorable treatment at town meeting, it is essential for chamber members to attend the meeting and support the article.

The chamber would like to thank the towns of Greenwood and Woodstock for approving the group's request for $150 from each town.

The office has copies of a brochure from the Maine Chamber of Commerce & Industry entitled "Working for You." Remember, if you would like to be part of the member-to-member campaign, please let us know what it is you can offer to fellow members in the way of discounts or special offers.

INN TOWNHOUSE CONDOS

ple voting came about because of two reasons: Karen Brown, who had missed the earlier vote, was present for last Wednesday's vote; and John Gray, who had withdrawn from the earlier discussion and vote, this time decided to take part. In addition to Ms. Brown and Mr. Gray, others voting in favor of the Inn's permit application were board members Don Eddy and Leonard Shaw. Opposing the application were members Ginger Kelly and Cathy Newell.

The board decided to reconsider its earlier action when it became clear that the first vote had not constituted any action whatsoever, because a majority of the board had not voted on one side of the issue or the other.

The Maine Municipal Association told town officials that a valid vote would require a four-person majority. Local attorney Gordon Gillies, representing the applicant, told the board two weeks ago that, in his opinion, a three-person majority was all that was needed for a valid vote.

Last Wednesday, the town council, Geoff Hole, of Portland, recommended that every member of the board should vote, except for John Laban, who is the Inn's project manager for the townhouse project. (He had, in the past, not voted.) "Burdensome as it may seem," wrote Mr. Hole, "I believe the law requires a majority of a Board to act. Stated differently, the Planning Board has seven members, and four of them must vote together for the Board to act."

Mr. Hole said he saw no reason why Mr. Gray should not vote on the application. He said Mr. Gray's employer had cleared the land for the townhouse project, but that did not constitute a conflict of interest.

With a fresh, and affirmative, vote on the project, Inn officials breathed a sigh of relief. But it was short-lived.

The state Department of Environmental Protection, which must also approve the project, put up a new hurdle. The DEP informed Inn officials this week that the permit would not be approved with the planned access road going in from Broad Street as proposed, through the property of Ann and Ray Moran. DEP officials acted on the basis of a negative report from the Maine Historic Preservation Commission plus angry letters from a number of Broad Street residents and others.

The preservation commission's report, while generally favorable to the project, objected strongly to the access road location. "Any alterations made to the existing street pattern to accommodate increased vehicular traffic would have a negative impact on the character of the Broad Street Historic District," the commission's report stated.

Project director John Laban told the Planning Board Monday night that he would like to present plans next week for a different access road. It is understood that the new access road would enter off Paradise Road instead of Broad Street. Inn officials have previously complained that this alternative would be very costly and would also force Inn guests housed in the condos to travel far from the Inn to get to their domiciles.

The board will listen to Mr. Laban's proposal next Wednesday, at their 8:30

The team recommended that the SAD #44 program increase the hours that guidance services are available, and continue to explore opportunities to provide post-secondary programming as well as providing refresher work that would specifically target adults seeking college entrance.

Other recommendations were that the program include a greater variety of adult high school diploma courses and that it offer alternative programs for potential high school drop-outs and identify area resources to meet the needs of young parents for parenting training. The expansion of the Adult Learning Center concept to Andover was recommended for exploration.

The review team liked the literacy program for adults, suggesting only that it be promoted more in the community.

The review team noted that businesses have sent employees to adult education classes, and said this practice should be expanded. The team recommended that the Adult Ed program conduct a survey of the needs of local businesses for employee training in order to better accommodate those needs. (See separate story.)

In the area of financial management, the SAD #44 program was found to be in good order. The program was commended for seeking out additional grants to supplement the program, and for using registration fees to purchase supplies and equipment to strengthen the program. The low registration fees have been found to encourage a broad base of community participation. The team noted that the salary of the director of the program, Cathy Newell, is one of the lowest in the state, and recommended that in future budgeting the adult education director's salary be brought in line with other administrative salaries.

The review team was composed of state and regional educational administrators and local residents. Among the local members of the review team were: Ginger Kelly, Bob Anderson, Eva Twitchell, Bill Riley, Mary Stone, Shirley Powell, Marriott Churchill, Alvin Barth and Steve Wight.

ding that provides the vast majority of our capital investment monies." Mr. Connors said the Federal Highway Act, passed earlier this month, provided even less money than his already reduced expectations had anticipated. Federal funding of state road and highway improvements is off $40 million from last year, he said.

The local improvements proposed by the MDOT are as follows:

- In Bethel, replacement of the surface of the Rte. 2 bridge over the Androscoggin River $205,000;
- In Bethel, replacement of the surface of the Rte. 2 bridge over the Sunday River $95,000;
- From Bethel to Rumford, light resurfacing of Rte. 2, plus shoulder improvement and guardrail replacement, for a distance of 9.65 miles $1,055,000;
- In Grafton Township, replacement of the Paine Brook bridge on Rte. 26 $140,000;
- In Newry, replacement of the surface of the Rte. 2 bridge over the Bear River $95,000;
- Between Andover and Rumford Pt., resurfacing 4.3 miles of Rte. 5 $350,000;
- Between Andover and Rumford Pt., maintenance of Rte. 5, for a distance of 2.3 miles $23,000;
- In East Andover, replacement of a box culvert on state aid number 1 $50,000;
- In Upton, light resurfacing of Rte. 29, beginning at the Grafton town line, for approximately 2 miles $70,000;

Clum Spencer at A.E.S.

Clum Spencer, yarn spinner and balladeer, will visit Andover Elementary School today (Wednesday). Mr. Spencer tells stories and sings songs about living and working in Maine.

He was born in the logging country of the West Branch of the Penobscot River Valley and has always lived in Maine. His songs and stories are usually humorous, and he often encourages some audience participation. His performances are excellent for people who enjoy learning about Maine through folklore.

MYSTI, MY MAGICAL PET

By Jara Ginzinski
5th Grade, Agnes Gray School

The pet I would like to have is a unicorn. She would be white with ruby eyes, golden hooves, and a pearl horn. There would be streaks of rainbow in her tail. Beautiful!

She would run as fast as a ray of light, and leap as high as the tallest tree. Taking care of her would be a snap. She would eat rainbows and drink from silver streams. I wouldn't have to brush her, because her hair would fall right into place!

Everyday I could climb on her back and we would go soaring over rainbows and through clouds, having tea with the angels. Definitely a unicorn's favorite thing!

I would teach her to do everything, from jumping to heaven, to running to faraway lands. I would love my unicorn, and she would love me. The love of a pet is the best thing in the world!

Rebel tracksters sprint to 1st places

Both boys' and girls' track teams won meets last week. The boys came in first, with 78.5 points, in a five-way meet with Mt. Abram, Valley, Mexico and Leavitt high schools last Wednesday.

The high scorer in the meet was Scott Haines. Scott placed 1st in the 100, 200 and 400-meter dashes and took 2nd in the long jump. He beat his own school record in the 100-meter dash, with a time of 11.5 seconds.

Close behind Scott in the scoring was Kavid Kersey. David took 1st places in both the high jump and intermediate hurdles, plus a 2nd place in the high hurdles.

Also scoring in the meet were: Andy Porter—3rd in the javelin and 5th in the shot put; Jamie Blake—3rd in the 400, 4th in the 200, and 5th in the triple jump; Henrik Holmstrom—3rd in the 1600-meter run; Jason Miseroch—2nd in the 800-meter dash; Steve Learned—4th in the 110 hurdles; Todd Davis—4th in the 400, 4th in the triple, 5th in the long jump; Amos Kimball—5th in the 400; Dennis Gallant—tied for 3rd in the high jump; Fred Kuvaja—5th in the discus.

The relay team of Andy Porter, Henrik Holmstrom, Amos Kimball and Dennis Gallant came in first in the 4x100 relay. Jamie Blake, Andy Porter, Henrik Holmstrom and David Kersey placed 2nd in the 1600-meter relay.

The team placed 2nd in a five-way meet Friday against Carrabec, Madison, Livermore Falls and Valley. Telstar scored 70 points. David Kersey and Scott Haines continued to lead the team scoring. Scott grabbed 1st place in the 100, 200 and 400-meter dashes, plus a second in the long jump. David placed 1st in the high hurdles, high jump and intermediate hurdles. He also ran a leg on the 4x400 relay, which placed 2nd.

Also scoring in the meet were: Henrik Holmstrom—2nd in the 1600, 800 and 4x400 relay (he was also part of the 400 relay team, which placed 4th); Jason Miseroch—2nd in the 3200 and 4th in the 1600; Andy Porter—4th in the javelin, 2nd in the 4x400 relay, and 4th in the 4x100 relay; Jamie Blake—4th in the triple jump, 5th in the 400 and 2nd in the 4x400; Steve Learned—4th in the high hurdles; Kirke Haskell—4th in the 3200; Amos Kimball—4th in the 4x100 relay; Todd Davis—5th in the triple jump and 4th in the 4x100 relay.

Scott Haines broke the school record in the 400-meter dash, with a time of 55.3 seconds. Jamie Blake's leap in the triple jump qualified him in that event for the regionals, as did David Kersey's effort in the intermediate hurdles.

The girls' team won a dual meet against Mexico last Tuesday, by a score of 111-23.

Local construction projects supported by Dragon Products

When Sunday River Ski Resort is ready to pour a foundation for a new condominium, construction crews don't have to call to Lewiston. Right down the road, in West Paris, is one of the 12 concrete plants of Dragon Products Co.

Bob Kelley, of Dixfield, is the dispatcher at the plant, and he says, "This company really strives for quality, and we're customer-oriented." What that means for the customer, he says, is that the concrete will be custom-blended for the job to be done, and Dragon's engineers will work with the customer to determine exactly what sort of mix is needed.

Bob Kelley's West Paris plant is happy to have big customers, such as Sunday River and the Oxford Plains Speedway. But he says most of the concrete shipped from the plant goes to small contractors and homeowners, pouring a foundation or a concrete slab.

The West Paris plant just re-opened two weeks ago for its second season. The plant operates from April to December on land leased from Cooper Farms, off Rte. 26. The business is strictly seasonal, Mr. Kelley says, because running it in the winter would run up the cost of production. Therefore they are willing to forego winter sales in order to keep costs down.

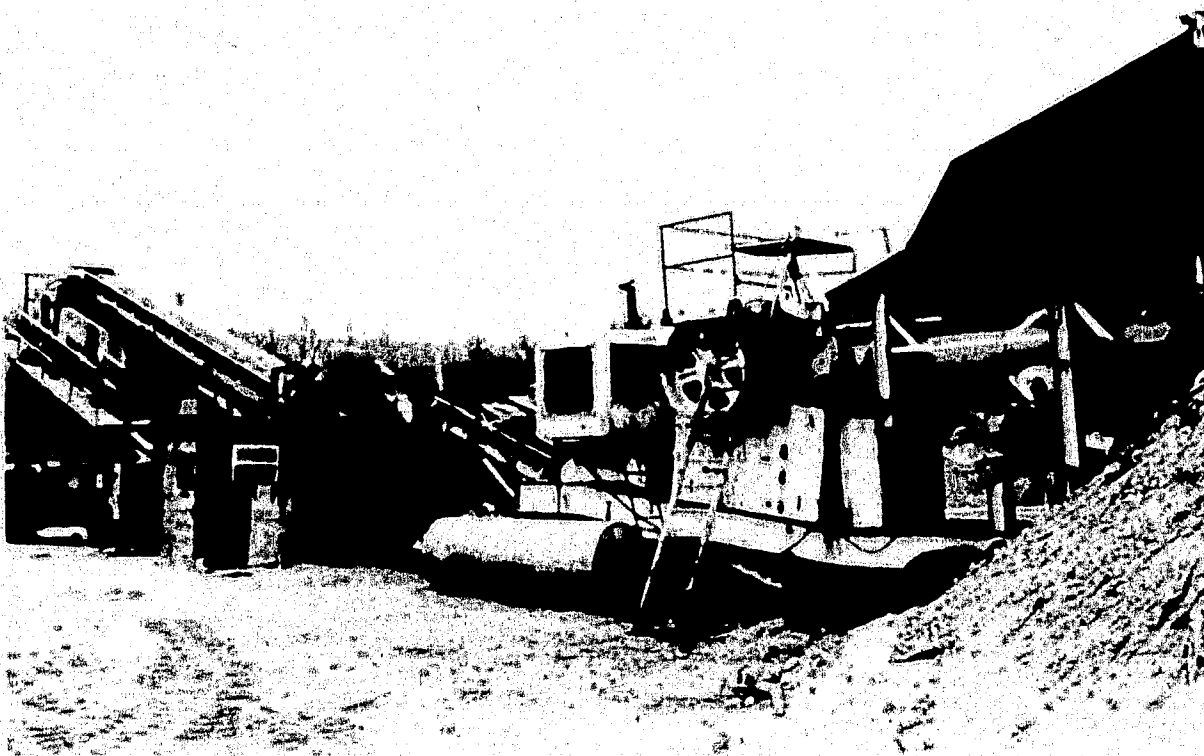

The costs of running a batching plant—aside from the cost of the land—are the costs of digging the dirt out of the embankments, separating it into the various aggregates (1½-inch stone, ¾-inch stone, and sand), washing the aggregates, combining the aggregates with cement and other additives (such as water-reducers and plasticizers), and operating a fleet of trucks to get the product to the customer.

As the new season began last month, an extracting crew arrived on the scene of the batching plant and began digging the dirt from the banks and feeding it into huge crushers, sorters and washers. Front end loaders carried the washed product to storage bins near the plant proper, where the aggregates would be weighed and combined for each load.

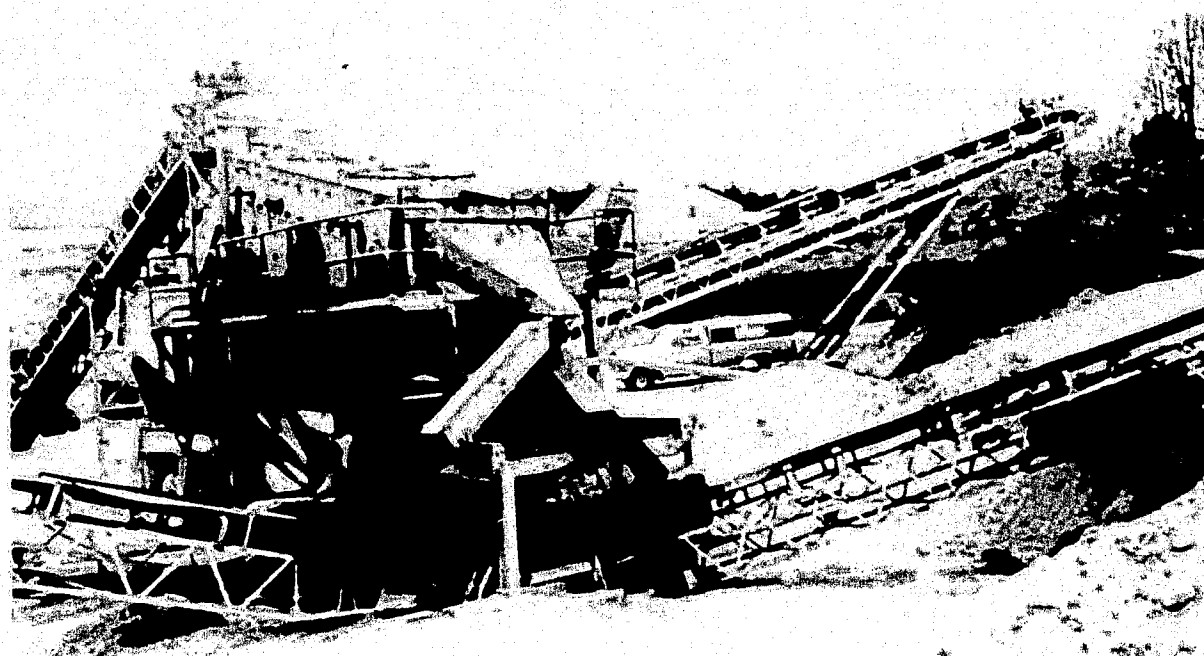

The plant ships about 15 loads of concrete a day and operates a fleet of six trucks. The drivers of the trucks are mostly local men.

All told, Dragon Products employs 250 people statewide—eight at the West Paris plant, plus the four-man crushing crew currently in residence there. Dragon is the largest concrete supplier in the state and also operates the only cement plant in New England (at Thomaston).

Dragon Products is formally owned by the Passamaquoddy Indian Tribe, but management is in the hands of the Cliche family, the same people who own Clarks Corporation, which had been the owner of the cement and concrete plants prior to 1985. One of the plants had been in North Waterford, but it was sold to EARTH (RIGHT) IS FED INTO THE HOPPER of the crushing machine, which spits out the crushed aggregates (center left) into a washing and sorting machine at Dragon Products, in West Paris.

THE CRUSHED AND WASHED STONE AND SAND is separated in the washer and sent by conveyor belts, to three separate piles. Later it is taken to storage bins until it is needed for blending into a batch of concrete.

Pike Industries, which uses it to produce hot top.

The decision to open a batching plant in West Paris was based on two considerations, according to Jim Gilbert, spokesman for the Thomaston-based Dragon Products. "It made more sense to be here (than in North Waterford), closer to the customers, plus we had a source of aggregates here." That source, at Cooper Farms, is estimated to be good for 20 years, Mr. Gilbert said.

A lovely morning this Thursday morning as I sit down to type. The trees are doing a good job of leafing out and making things look green and pretty. It is a nice time of the year, and the only thing to mar the beauty and enjoyment is when the little flies get to humming around and biting. They were out the other day and seemed rather hungry, as usual. That spoils the joy of being outside, but not much one can do about it.

A week ago today I fixed up some floral arrangements to take to the sale on Saturday. The arrangements were for memorial pieces and were pretty, if I do say so. Also took some of my African violets down to sell and made fudge to take along. Gave that to the Grange to sell to pay for my table. Saturday at the Grange Hall was a busy day, but not as busy as some times. The food is always the biggest item to go, and it went fast this time. There were about four others with things to sell: knick-knacks or what-have-you. It is always fun to go to one of these times and we always have a good time.

Got ahead of myself and told about Saturday so now will say a little about Friday. Wynona had to come to see the doctor about her ankle, which still bothers her. So I went down with her to look after the girls while she was in the doctor's office. She did get the cast off and was glad of that, but still has trouble with the foot and ankle. It takes a long time for ligaments to heal after a bad accident like she had. She said her foot was still a lovely purple and it has been at least five weeks since the accident happened.

I'll go back to Saturday now and tell you that Russell drove me to North Bridgton in the afternoon after I got home from the sale at West Paris. Have had lots of trouble with my ribs and still have it. It seems like me real well and doesn't want to go away.

When I got home from the sale, Wynona was here with the girls and a Mother's Day present. As I have lost weight, my clothes are too large for me, so was glad to get a new pair of slacks and a blouse. She did have to take the blouse back as it was too large. Got to take time and take more of my clothes in to fit, but have been sewing for my granddaughters for their birthdays, which are coming up soon. One is the 13th of this month and the other is the 22nd and Grandma has been sewing for their birthday presents.

In the evening, or about supper time, Wendall and Viola came with a present and a card. The gift was a lovely mug and much too pretty to use. I don't drink coffee or tea but do have ginger tea once in a while to help get rid of gas. However, the mug sits on the shelf with my other things and I can see it and think of those who gave it to me.

Sunday was a quiet day as no one came to visit. Russell did little things around the house and then went out to fix up a bed for his strawberry plants. It is three tiers and took a lot of dirt and other mix-

Mother's Day dinner guests at the home of Newton and Joyce Lamb were Mike and Judy McLaughlin, Nina, Kyra and Kelly, local; Peggy Lamb, Gorham; Kenny and Sandy Lamb, Tina and Kenny, Bryant Pond; and Wendy Willette, of Portland. Son Allen Lamb called. The girls prepared the dinner.

Charles and Vicky Sanborn, North Conway, N.H., entertained her grandmother Elsie Pirralainen and parents Vernon and Miriam Inman for dinner on Mother's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayward Lamb had as Mother's Day dinner guests at their cottage on North Pond Mr. and Mrs. James Lamb, Kristy and Kelsey, of Oxford; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lamb, of Sebec, and Natalie Morse, Mandy and Nathan, of Oakland. It was also a birthday celebration for Cynthia, with two birthday cakes for the special occasion. Should we say the 49th?

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Proctor and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Scott were in Presque Isle the past weekend attending a rural letter carriers' meeting. On Sunday they called on Owen and Donna Melville and Dennis in Woodland.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Bacon were in Fairfax, Vt., last weekend visiting their daughter and family Kathy and Bob Bessette, Emily and Marc. They attended granddaughter Emily's first dance recital.

tures that he had gotten so he was tired when it was done. I sewed and when I went out the bugs wanted to bite and be miserable, so didn't stay out as long as I would have liked.

Had to make a trip to the hospital on Monday for a little while but sewed till it was time to go. It took longer than we had anticipated but not much one could do about it. If I had realized how long it was going to take, I would have told Russell to go home and come for me when all was over. As it was, he did a few errands and then waited for me. Russell set out his strawberry plants when we got home and had had some lunch—a real late lunch.

Tuesday was our day for going for surplus supplies, which we sure need as does everybody who is on disability or social security or other programs like that. We went shopping for a little while first and got some more flowers to fix up for our own use. Also invested in a new pair of shoes to see if they will help keep my back lined up any. When we went to get our surplus food we didn't have a long line ahead of us, which is unusual. Guess we timed it just right. Got home and sewed some more and Russell mowed the lawn and did odd jobs outside. He keeps busy putting around with plants etc. and has set out flower seeds etc. Peggy called from West Virginia and didn't know if she would make it home the next day or not.

Yesterday was another day of doing lots of things. Hadn't washed my floors for some time so decided to do so as long Nathan Isley is still at Maine Medical Center, Portland. His adopted son, Roger Young, Rockland, Mass., came to see his father on Mother's Day and he also visited here at the farm with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vatcher and Arnold Coffin attended the committal service for their sister, Alice M. Goff, at the Frye Cemetery May 13. Doris Lawrence was unable to go as she had to go for new lenses at Lewiston.

Mrs. Robert Isley and son Rob visited a week with her sister at Calais.

Callers at Lawrences: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott and Jo-Anne, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Joe Kalinowski, Sharon Felt and Jennie, Richard Felt, Carroll Record, Maureen Heath, Amanda and Jeremy, and Les Wilson brought a bushel of lovely rhubarb.

Doris Lawrence called on Marion Stone and saw her beautiful quilt of the United States.

Joe Kalinowski accompanied Doris Lawrence to the funeral service for Helen Emery at 1. W. Andrews Funeral Home, at Buckfield, on Thursday.

David Broberg has cleared off a house lot and built a road to it just above the Reidy's trailer on the Trask Road, and the foundation has been poured. It's a beautiful spot.

as I was to go to the doctor later in the day. They sure look better. Washed and sewed what I could before going to see the doctor in the afternoon. Didn't do much after that as I hoped the ribs and back would feel better.

We were talking about Peggy about 9 last night and had just said we didn't think she would make it home when there was a tap on the window and there she was. She had driven a lot of miles, but when she got into New Hampshire, she decided to keep coming to get home. We are glad she made it safely. Laura had gone down to be at Justice's wedding and ride home with Peggy so she didn't have to be alone on the long drive home. Guess they both enjoyed their trip together. Haven't had much chance to talk as yet.

You should see our bleeding heart that is in the corner by the door that leads in to the mobile home. It is large and covered with blossoms—very pretty and doing so well. I love to watch for the different flowers in folks' yards when driving through the countryside. It is such a nice time of the year to see the pretty blossoms and reflect on what is to come. Hope all of you enjoy the sights as I do.

We have had several new birds at the feeder lately. Don't know what all of them are as can't find their pictures in the bird books we have, but they are real pretty and we enjoy watching for the new ones. Just wish some of them were bluebirds; but no luck again this year.

My boat has been taken from its winter home and is anchored by the pond, just waiting for me to use it. Some day soon I will. I'll go back to a pool in the woods, which is reached by a winding waterway where wild ducks come to idle, the muskrat swims slyly, and the beaver and other sometimes play.

Ferns trim the edge of the river that leads into this woodland pool.

Around the trees, that in places grow out into the water, swerves the current, as you have seen it at the pond's entrance. I can push my boat silently into this nook with hardly a ripple. I can picture it now as the wind kisses it, pines bend over it, a bird sings to it, the kingfisher soars over it, a cloud swirls in it, and once I saw a deer drinking here—I did, I did! He was unaware of me for a few seconds, then he was gone and I was breathless. All I could hear was the kingfisher's chatter and a frog near shore.

What is nicer than to stumble upon some living thing in the wilds or water? These woods and waters are their castles and no one is expected to be there uninvited.

I love ponds, whether secluded or open. I have seen one come to fury, in a moment, then to smile at me through tears of rain, while arching the mountaintop appears a rainbow.

I wish everyone could come to Maine and spend time with such beauty. There would surely be much, much less unrest, and there would be appreciation of what is worthwhile. To feel the winds of the mountains blow over the water and to clear the mist and fog from the brain; there would be discovered the clear and true value of life.

What does it matter if the rain falls, the winds blow, and the sun burns. Here are found the temples of the Most High.

I would not like to live without my hills, my streams, and the green silences about my pond; the religion of my worship.

On May 9 I was greeted by two rosebreasted grosbeaks. How beautiful they were, and four days earlier than usual.

On Wednesday, Leonas, Fay and I went to Bethel to have dinner with Ann Holt. It was her mother's birthday.

I attended graveside services in South Paris for my brother, Frank, on Saturday, with Dorothy, Fred, Rena, and Kathy Carl, Walter Curtis and Dale and Marcia Mills, Shapleigh; Eva Felton, local.

The families of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis have been busy cleaning after the fire at their home on Hayes Hill. Fred and Rena are with their son, Albert, in Otisfield.

Callers at Dorothy Curtis' were Mr.

Tri-Town Rescue

We did it! At 10:30 on Friday, May 15, Jane moved the West Paris Unit, 101, into the new barn at Trap Corner. We have all worked long and hard for this day, and it feels great!

On Wednesday (today), we have a general membership meeting at our new barn. At that time we have several issues to vote on, but mostly we need to bless and dedicate the new building.

On Sunday, May 31, from 2 to 4 p.m. will be an open house at the new building. We hope many people will attend to help us celebrate, and of course to see the new facility. We are understandably proud of this achievement, but also very thankful for all the help and support that we have received from the people in our communities, and the surrounding areas. Ribbon-cutting will start the proceedings at 2 p.m., with refreshments to follow. Please join us on the 31st.

Training for May will be on the 27th, at 7 p.m., at Trap Corner. Carroll Minkowsky, from Central Maine Power, will be speaker. His topic will be electrical rescue emergencies, which sounds very interesting and informative.

Janet Bennett, of West Paris, is now coordinating our crew of in-service dispatchers. Janet has been a dispatcher for a couple of years now, so she comes to this job with a lot of experience. One of the issues that we vote on at the membership meeting will be on electing the coordinator of in-service dispatchers, which is currently an appointed post. Janet has a couple of night dispatching slots that she needs to fill, so if you would like to help, give her a call, at 674-2130. She will tell you all about the job, and sign you up, if you're willing.

and Mrs. Waldo Porter, West Peru; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leeper, Westport; Mrs. Vicky Campbell and children, West Paris; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mills, Shapleigh; Joan and Vanessa Morgan, Eva Felton, Fred and Rena Curtis, Kathy Curtis and Colista Morgan, local.

The Hakala family were in Buckfield to attend graveside services for Katherine Morey last Saturday.

Bethel

There is still room on the bus for the senior citizen trip to St. Johnsbury, Vt., June 17. Call Muriel Faudi or Joan Coolidge.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Walker have returned from a visit with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Walker, in Madison, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Walker attended a family gathering at the home of their granddaughter, Melissa, in New Sharon, Mother's Day.

David and Lynne Chellmer, of Seattle, Wash., were visitors of Bernie Wideman and Mary Clark last week. The Chellmers were coming east to attend the wedding of Lynne's nephew, in Massachusetts. Their daughter, Jill, met them there. The highlights of their stay in Bethel were seeing the old New England houses, seeing a deer on the Songo Pond Road as they came back from dinner in North Waterford, and seeing a moose on the road between Upton and Andover.

Memorial Day Weekend . . .</

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

Mrs. Elmira Doyen, Mrs. Connie Hindman and Mark enjoyed luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. John and Sherry Hindman, in Windham, after the USM graduation exercises last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swan, of Rumford, were visitors here last Saturday evening. Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Herb Adams, Derek and Erin, of Hanover, Mrs. Ethel Bean Turner, Sarah, Amber, David and Jonathan, of Orlafield.

Warren Parsons called on his parents Sunday.

Visitors Saturday of Jimmy and Christine Kimball were her daughter Alberta Ridlon, of Sweden, and friend Clarence, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Andrews and son Ray, of Auburn. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Heath and children, of Oxford, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barker and Brent, of South Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Rugg, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Waterhouse and Kelly Ann, of Manchester, N.H., were visitors of her parents Mother's Day weekend. Don and Beverly Waterhouse were in Manchester earlier for Kelly Ann's birthday party and to visit their son Scott and family and new baby boy. I went back to Orlafield with Ethel and family last Sunday for several days and attended the final services for Dr. Beryl Moore. A very fitting and appropriate tribute to her was given by the Rev. Ellis Carr. Beryl had made her home for the last 15 years at The Cape in Orlafield, with the Frank and Steve Bean family.

Norma and I were in Rumford and Dixfield Friday morning.

Mrs. Elmira Doyen and Mrs. Connie Hindman were in Farmington and North New Portland on business and pleasure one day this week.

Some people, like flowers, give pleasure just by being.

Mrs. Dwight Grover and her daughter, Mrs. Tom Jones and little son are visiting friends in Vermont for a few days.

Mrs. Eulela Whitney and family are staying in her grandmother's house for a few weeks while her new home on Pikes Hill, Norway, is being built.

Our friends who went south for the winter months are all home again to their summer homes.

Several from here attended the mother and daughter banquet at North Waterford Tuesday night.

Mrs. Betty Stearns went to West Paris one day last week on business.

Mrs. Grace Nelson went to see her doctor in Bridgton Tuesday. Her niece of Sweden visited her that same day.

Memorial Day will be celebrated Monday, May 25, this year.

Correction: Dianne Campbell has three more years of college to get her RN degree but works summers at the Norway Nursing Home, as she now is a CNA. Tri-Town Rescue needs more in-service dispatchers very badly. If you could give a few hours a week it would be appreciated. The usual shift is a 12-hour one and consists of just staying near a scanner (provided for you) and a telephone so as to call for first responders and back-up as needed. If you could not do a full 12-hour shift each week, but could be available for a few hours as a substitute occasionally, they could still use you. Call Janet Bennett, at 674-2130, or call me and I will call her if you think you would like to try it or need more information.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All interested persons are reminded that the eighth annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show will be held at the Dr. Moses Mason House on Saturday, May 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All interested SAD #44 students are urged to enter the show with a finished painting in any medium (crayon, chalk, oils, tempera paint or watercolor). All entries must be at the Dr. Moses Mason House by 5 p.m., Friday, May 29, in order to be considered for judging. Entries will be judged in three categories: Junior (Grades 1-4), Intermediate (Grades 5-8), Senior (Grades 9-12). There will be three prizes in each division ($20 first, $15 second and $10 third).

The show is held each year in honor of one of the founders of the Bethel Historical Society—Faye Sanborn Taylor (1908-1972), who was a well-known local artist and very interested in art for young people. For further details, please call the society office, at 824-2908.

The 198th anniversary of Dr. Moses Mason's birth will be observed on Sunday, May 31, with a public reception at his home from 2 to 4 p.m. Featured during the reception will be a slide lecture by Society Director Stanley Howe, titled "Last Bethel," which will focus on Bethel buildings and structures that have been lost or destroyed through the years. All interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Ben Conant, of South Paris, has presented the society with a copy of "Franklin County and Her Towns: History and Progress Together." This is now available to researchers in the Eva Bean Research Room.

Newest members of the society are Roger Dock, Glastonbury, Conn., and Althea Tucker, of Rumford Point.

Two more contributions to the endowment fund have been received in memory of Ernestine Philbrook Jackson from Clarence and Mary Ann Mansfield, of Danvers, Mass., and Stanley Howe, Bethel.

Since the Dr. Moses Mason House opened to the public, in 1974, there has been an extensive educational program for students in Bethel area schools. Coordinated by Society Director Howe, the program has included many volunteers through the years and has provided educational experiences for Gould Academy and SAD #44 students, as well as those from Rumford, Oxford Hills and Bridgton.

Once again this year Dr. Howe has been making presentations on various aspects of history to the Crescent Park

School social studies classes of Mary Newcomb. Recently nearly 40 letters were received from these 5th-graders describing their reactions and expressing gratitude. A few samples: Phoebe Hausman-Rogers, "Thank you so much for spending all this time with us. I learned quite a lot about what you told us. I liked all the presentations, but my favorite was the one about the Civil War. Before, I didn't know that the soldiers were so young." Jennifer Lynn Bowie, "Thank you very much for coming in. I enjoy history. My favorite time you came in was on the Revolutionary War. I liked learning about our nation becoming a nation. I thought it was neat that we were once called Sudbury Canada. I like learning about people in the past, names like Eleazer Twitchell and Jonathan Clark. I didn't know that Sam Barker was George Washington's taller... I think that next year's group will enjoy you as much as we did. Thank you again." Joshua Fogg, "I also enjoyed when you talked about what the farms looked like a long time ago. I would really hate to have to use a kniddy knoddy. Thanks to your presentations I know a lot more about Bethel. Thanks for coming."

Misty Hutchins, "Another appealing thing I liked was when we went to the Moses Mason House and talked about logging, farming and transportation. That day I went home and asked my dad if he knew what peevie, kniddy knoddy and cant dog meant and he did know."

Sarah Coolidge, "Thank you for coming in and talking about the Civil War, Indians and early farm life. I liked it when you talked about the early Indians of Bethel and told about how they lived. I also liked it when we went to the Moses Mason House when you showed us slides about how people before us farmed. But best of all I liked it the last time you came in and talked about the Civil War and how people paid for the war by taxes and paper money. I thought it was neat when you brought in stuff from the Civil War like an old cup and canteen and a bullet that had been in a guy for twenty years."

Cherilyn Myers, "I really enjoyed learning about our history of Bethel. I thought keeping a diary was just for fun, but now I know how important it is. I'm glad I keep one." Sheila Douglas, "It was fun when the whole fifth grade came over to the Moses Mason House. It was neat looking at all the tools they used."

Sunday River

By ELAINE RAYMOND

Well, I'm back after a vacation with more Sunday River news.

Alan and David Fleet went turkey hunting in York County last week. They came back empty handed, but did find some promising areas for next time.

Linda Harrington has a new addition to her family, a cute filly about two weeks old.

Marshall Fleet has been meeting with the State Department of Transportation about the flood damage to town roads. Most of the new culverts are in and the road is coming along well.

Jo and Romeo are busy planning for their upcoming wedding. We wish them the best of luck.

It seems like this is the time to take a vacation. Maxine Derby just got back from a week's vacation in Massachusetts and Augusta. Karen Friedlander is in Cancun for a week getting a head start on her tan. Another couple is cruising in the West Indies for two weeks. Jack and Nancy Dennis are home from their trip, too.

Nat Putnam celebrated his birthday last week skiing at Tucker's Ravine. He said there wasn't a lot of snow, but that what there was was great.

The new trails at Sunday River Ski Area are coming along fine. There's a lot of clearing going on in preparation for summer construction projects.

The Flects had two calves so far this spring with two more expected soon. Outward Bound is widening their road so when the National Guard arrives they can "dozer and gravel it."

Mother's Day was busy, with lots of people in town visiting Mom. Next weekend will be busy, too. Memorial Day weekend always brings bunches of sightseers driving through the area, so be on the lookout for hikers!

It's getting pretty dry in the woods these days, so please make sure you are careful with fires.

ed the Oxford County Retired Teachers meeting in Oxford, May 16.

Alder River Grange will hold a meeting Friday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m., at the hall.

Mundt-Allen Unit news

The regular meeting of Mundt-Allen Unit #81 followed the installation of officers last week.

Ramona Lowe will again take charge of ordering and disbursing the geraniums for the deceased members of the unit.

Cards of remembrance were sent to the two Gold Star Mothers, Sarah Grover and Ethelyn Wight. Arlene Bean, Jr., past president, will lead the parade on Memorial Day and invites all unit members and past Miss Poppy's to participate.

The following members volunteered to serve on post clean-up: Louise Palmer, Arlene Bean (chairman), Ramona Lowe, Ruth Klitredge, Maureen Swain, Caroline Merrill, Alison Crowell, Monique Rolfe and Abigail Buswell.

It was voted not to have a food concession booth on Mollycoddett Day. Members were asked to donate money toward a donation to the Lions Club in lieu of the booth.

Young mothers group meets today at Telstar

The Young Mothers Support Group will meet today (Wednesday), from 7 to 9 p.m. at Telstar Regional High School, in Judi Brown's Resource Room.

The subject of this week's meeting will be "Parenting and Discipline."

If you need transportation or child care, call Mrs. Brown, at 824-2136.

Coordinators and facilitators of the group, in addition to Mrs. Brown, are Susan Haley and Kathy Sutton.

The unit welcomed two new members: L. Elisabeth Perkins and Doris Parent. A guest at the meeting was Melissa Palmer, daughter of Francis and Louise Palmer, who will be sponsored by the unit as a Girls State delegate.

It was voted to serve donuts on a trial basis at beano, in addition to the pies.

Mrs. Esther Davis joined her daughter, Patricia Tibbels, and son Neil at a restaurant in South Paris for Mother's Day dinner.

Olive Davis went to Bridgton to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goldsmith, Daphne and Julie, Mark Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith and daughter Charly and Lillian Harmon all enjoyed dinner together.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks and I attended Historical Society meeting at Bryant Pond Saturday evening. David Clements showed pictures on the Antarctica base where he had been stationed for two years. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements attended the meeting. This was very interesting and a question period was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Keniston called on his aunt, Olive Davis, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Twitchell were in Florida for two weeks' visit recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway joined with their daughter at Berlin for Mother's Day supper and birthday celebration in Berlin Sunday evening. Their daughter, Karen, had the birthday. Mrs. Hathaway went to Oxford to prepare a dinner for her mother, Mrs. Elbert Tyler, who was ill Sunday. KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individuals needs, etc. If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant 824-2131 or 824-2269 for pickup. Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

Sounds of the village ring sharp and clear on this bright sunny May morning. A pair of brightly colored Baltimore Orioles perch among the apple trees, amidst its pink blossoms and twitter softly to each other as they discuss the nesting possibilities. Suddenly the male bird comes into full voice and regales his mate with his rippling melodious song, as his chest swells to full volume. Cats saunter across green lawns, welcoming the freshness of this new world, and a dog in the distance yelps—perhaps he hears in the nearby forest the sound of newborn fox pups. A neighbor rustles her white sheets as she prepares to hang them on her clothesline, and the growling noise and squeak of the clothesline adds a bass touch to this spring symphony of sights, sounds, smells to this May day, so crisp and new. Out there in the world, the news media tells us of horrendous doings; but for this brief moment in Gilead, the beauty of creation reigns.

Mrs. Marion Kimball was happy to have all her children visiting at her home here over Mother's Day, and in the evening she was guest of honor at a supper at the home of her daughter, Millie Brockneve, in North Waterford.

Outward Bound expanding

Jeffrey Parsons, director of the Outward Bound center, met yesterday morning with the Newry Board of Selectmen at their regular weekly meeting to discuss expansion plans of the Sunday River-based Outward Bound program.

Outward Bound is a non-profit organization involved in training students in outdoor living and first aid. Its main headquarters is in Rockland. Some years ago the organization purchased property in the Sunday River section of Newry, using the house for staff and student housing. Approximately two years ago, they built another building, now known as the Kresge Building, which is also used for storage and housing and to also do extensive repairs on the road. After discussion with the selectmen, it was agreed that it might be well for Mr. Parsons to meet occasionally with the board to discuss progress and any problems that might arise. They also discussed the possibility of Outward Bound and the town working together on formation of a first responder group to aid the ambulance crew that serves the town of Newry.

In other business, John Gauthier, code enforcement officer, Veronica Smith and Nancy Moppa expressed concern that the cutting and chipping operation on a lot in the Bear River area might be in violation of the Shoreland Zoning Ordinance. Selectman Lee Swain visited the site and after talking with the crew working there, it was decided that with a little cleaning up around the lot there was no real reason for concern.

The final application for flood disaster relief for damages to town roads visited at this meeting. Already expended by the town is $15,682, with an estimate of $16,074 remaining to be expended. That amount of $31,756 has been approved for reimbursement, with the federal government to pay 75 percent and the state 25 percent. A further amount of $1,250 has not been approved for reimbursement.

The new proposed cemetery association met Monday evening to vote on by-laws and elect officers, as follows: president, Romeo Baker; vice president, Willard Wright; treasurer, James Sytko; secretary, Julie Daye; and director at large, Francis Berry. George, Francis Berry, Cerge, Amos Kimball placed 3rd in the 400-meter run.

James Blake was 5th in the 400-meter run. Steve Learned took a 5th in the high hurdles.

The sprint relay (4x100) of Andy Porter, Henrik Holmstrom, Amos Kimball and Dennis Gallant came in 2nd. The 4x400 relay placed 1st in that event. Team members include Jamie Blake, Todd Davis, Andy Porter and David Kersey.

The boys track team, greatly depleted by the Maine State Parade, in Lewiston, nevertheless took part in the five-way meet at Jay. The results were: Jay 104, Livermore Falls 47, Telstar 43, Mexico 25, and Mexico 15.

Scott Haines was superb as he set two school records and placed 1st in four events: Scott broke the high jump, 4-foot 5 1/2 inches with a leap of 6'1". He shaved a tenth of a second off the school record for the 100-meter, clocking 11.6 seconds.

He also won the 200-meter and the long jump. Henrik Holmstrom, Telstar's Swedish exchange student, placed 2nd in the 2-mile, 3rd in the 800 and 4th in the mile. Andy Porter placed 5th in both the mile and the 4th. David Foster ran 5th in the 120 high hurdles.

The 4x100 relay team of Dan Hamner, Scott Stevens, Delvin Wilson, and Fred Kurja placed 5th, as did the 4x400 team of Kirk Haskell, Thad Wheeler, Jamie Blake and Andy Porter.

The girls were able to accomplish this despite the fact that nearly half the team was missing due to prior commitments made before this make-up meet was scheduled.

Girls scoring in the meet were: Traci Higgins—1st in the triple jump, 2nd in the long jump; Linda Learned—1st in the discus, 2nd in the shot put; Amy Blake—2nd in the 100-meter hurdles, 3rd in the 300-meter hurdles; Ellen Hastings, 2nd in the 200-meter dash; 5th in the 100-meter dash; Shannon Tyler—1st for 3rd in the high jump; Sherrie Nichols—1st for 3rd in the high jump; 2nd in the 400-meter dash; Val Morris—2nd in the javelin, 3rd in the shot put; Karen Gould—4th in the 300-meter hurdles, 4th in the triple jump; April Cole—4th in the 200-meter run; Vicki Eastman—5th in the 100-meter hurdles.

The 4x400 relay team of Sherrie Nichols, Shannon Tyler, Traci Higgins and Ellen Hastings ran an exciting race and took 2nd place.

Three girls qualified for the regional meet. Linda Learned in the discus, Amy Blake in the 300-meter hurdles, and Ellen Hastings in the 200-meter dash.

The boys team took 2nd place in the recent four-team meet, against Lisbon, Livermore Falls, and Mexico.

Highscorers in the meet were David Kersey, with 2nd-place finishes in the 110-meter high hurdles, 300-meter intermediate hurdles, and the high jump. David also anchored the 4x400-meter relay team that captured that event.

Henrik Holmstrom clocked along as he won the 2-mile. He also took 3rd place in the mile.

Todd Davis qualified for the regional meet in the triple jump, with a leap of 36 feet. Todd placed 3rd in the long jump and 5th in the triple jump.

Amos Kimball placed 3rd in the 400-meter run.

Jamie Blake was 5th in the 400-meter run. Steve Learned took a 5th in the high hurdles.

The sprint relay (4x100) of Andy Porter, Henrik Holmstrom, Amos Kimball and Dennis Gallant came in 2nd. The 4x400 relay placed 1st in that event. Team members include Jamie Blake, Todd Davis, Andy Porter and David Kersey.

Fire damages equipment at P.H. Chadbourne

A fire of undetermined origin flared up in one of the buildings at P.H. Chadbourne & Co. early Sunday morning, ruining a lumber sorter and the motor of a chipper, and burning wiring that went to the dry kiln.

The Bethel Fire Department was on the scene quickly and kept the blaze from spreading to adjacent buildings, but the sorter building itself was ruined. Company owner Rob Chadbourne praised the volunteer firefighters for responding promptly and efficiently.

He also noted, however, "if we'd have had any kind it could have been disastrous."

It was the second fire in that particular building in the past few years, he said. The earlier one had been caused by an overheated motor. This one, he said, had not yet been traced to any particular cause. The building was built in the early 1960s, he said, and the equipment was insured, minus a large deductible.

The damaged equipment forced the mill to suspend operations on Monday, but on Tuesday they were back to work.

seconds. He also won the 200-meter and the long jump. Henrik Holmstrom, Telstar's Swedish exchange student, placed 2nd in the 2-mile, 3rd in the 800 and 4th in the mile.

L.L. Bean officials at Bethel Inn for 75th

The Bethel Inn & Country Club hosted L.L. Bean's annual management conference last week. The three-day meeting, attended by 110 top executives, concluded last Wednesday with a celebration marking the 75th anniversary of the internationally known sport and recreation outfit.

This was the third consecutive year Bethel was chosen as the company's meeting site.

Following a full business agenda, the Bean party was entertained on Monday by Maine humorist Tim Sample. Fair weather on Tuesday complemented an afternoon of outdoor activities as the conference broke off into groups to hike Old Speck, canoe Sunday River or bike into Gratton Notch.

Portions of the meeting and outdoor adventures were filmed by Channel 13 (WGME). The television crew was in Bethel to film a feature on Maine tourism, including the Bethel Inn and its conference business. The news feature is expected to be aired next week, in five weeklong segments, beginning Monday on Channel 13's 6 p.m. newscast.
